U. S. WANTS BAN ON POISON GAS ITALY ASSENTS

Other Nations Expected to Agree to Chemical Warfare Proposal Today

ROOT RULE ADOPTED

Japan and China Unable to Agree on Shantung and Negotiations Are Broken Off.

Washington, Jan. 6.—Prohibition of the use of poison gas in warfare was proposed to the Arms Conference today by the American delegation through Secretary Hughes. The proposal was made on the recommendation of the American Advisory Committee and the Navy General Board.

It was immediately assented to by Italy, after which the Naval Committee adjourned to take up the question again tomorrow when the American delegates believe it will be adopted.

Previously the committee had adopted the Root rule declaring submarine attacks on merchant vessels acts of piracy.

The Shantung conference between the Japanese and Chinese broke up, neither side being willing to make any concession acceptable to the other. Each side did make a final offer as to terms of payment for the railway, which was promptly rejected by the other, and the twentieth meeting adjourned.

President Harding let it be known that none of the three treaties will be submitted to the Senate until the Conference has adjourned and the foreign delegates have departed.

Washington, Jan. 6.—Following unanimous adoption of the Root rule providing that illegal attacks upon merchant ships by submarines or other warships shall be punished as piracy. The Conference committee on Limitation of Armament began consideration today of a proposal by the American delegation that the use of poison gas in warfare be absolutely prohibited.

Secretary Hughes made the proposal, in the face of a report by a subcommittee which declared limitation of chemical warfare impracticable. He based the American proposal on recommendations of the American advisory committee and of the general board of the navy that gas warfare be outlawed.

That the Conference will outlaw gas warfare, as propposed by Mr. Hughes, is the expectation of the American delegation, for the prohibition confirms that imposed by Great Britain, France, Italy and Japan upon Germany, Austria and Hungary in the peace treaties. The resolution, drafted by Mr. Root follows:

The use in war of asphyxiating, poisonous or analagous liquids or materials or devices having been justly condemned by the general opinion of the civilized world and a prohibition of such us having been declared in treaties to which a majority of the civilized powers are parties.

Now to the end that this prohibition shall be universally accepted as a part of international law, binding alike the conscience and practice of nations, the signatory powers declare their assent to such prohibition, agree to be bound thereby further in the emancipation of the 40,000,000 Chinese whose rights were abridged under duress, beginning with the three wars waged against China by Great Britain during the middle of the last century.

The rapidity with which the Conference on Limitation of Armaments and Pacific and Far Eastern questions has moved this week has aroused hopes that it may clear everything off the boards in two big plenary sessions next week and adjourn.

WASHINGTON DAY BY DAY

(From our Special Correspondent.)

Washington Jan. 7.—President Harding is beginning to realize that if the Republican party is not to be run on the rocks and go down to defeat at the next election, he will have to take charge of the situation in Congress and tell the Senators and Representatives what they should do and what they should not do. No man in public life today recognizes the fact more fully than Mr. Harding that the so called leaders of his party in Congress have made a mess of things on Capitol Hill. They have not passed any of the important legislation promised the voters of the country when they were placed in power, and although it was not the intention or desire of the Chief Executive at the outset of his administration to interfere with the perogatives of Congressmen, he has waited patiently for some sign of activity on their part and is at last convinced that he must take a hand in the legislative program. He has had several conferences within the past week with Senators and Representatives and told them in no uncertain terms that he exects them to get busy at once if the Republican Party is not to be repudiated by the people of the country.

In the meantime, the Democrats are taking advantage of the situation thus presented and are preparing to wage a campaign in every section of the country to secure control of the next House.

Further steps to put an end to out law warfare were taken by the Naval Committee of the Arms Conference today.

A resolution by Elihu Root defining as piracy the sinking of merchant ships in a manner contrary to that outlined in his previous resolutions was adopted and Mr. Root immediately moved to abolish the use of poison gas and liquid fire. Discussion of this latter subject was postponed to give the delegations time to hear from their home governmnts, although Italy at once fromally acquieseed in the resolution.

A strong boom for the appointment of Charles M. Schwab as Senator from Pennsylvania to succeed to the seat made vacant by the death of Boies Penrose has been started in the Western part of Pennsylvania. Various Chambers of Commerce and civic organizations are preparing to wire Governor Sproul to urge the appointment of Schwab.

News of the activity in behalf of Schwab is being heard with the greatest interest by Republican leaders here who fel that his appointment would be a master stroke. The Republicans of the Senate feel that Schwab would be a distinct element of strength in their ranks and a conspicuous representative of the business world which has suffered of late from lack of recognition in Congress.

The Washington conference will proceed directly with the drafting of the nine-Power Treaty relating to China which will be reported to a plenary session next week, according to an impression in conference circles today.

The precise contents of the treaty it was stated by a British spokesman, have not been decided, but it is probable that they will include the Root resolutions and will not embrac the various agreements concerning to an impression in conference cir- the Chinese tariff, extra territoriality, spheres of influence leased territories, foreign postoffices, foreign wireless stations, foreign troops and police and other matters.

The Chinese delegates themselves are pleased with the acts of the conference in relation to China, so far as they have gone but profess a disappointment that the conference has not gone further in the emancipation of the 40,000,000 Chinese whose rights were abridged under duress, beginning with the three wars waged against China by Great Britain during the middle of the last century.

The rapidity with which the Conference on Limitation of Armaments and Pacific and Far Eastern questions has moved this week has aroused hopes that it may clear everything off the boards in two big plenary sessions next week and adjourn.

GIVEN $2,000 IN SUIT FOR FALSE ARREST

SECOND SUIT LATER

Suit to Recover $15,000 Damages for Injuries Sustained in Auto Accident In Progress.

A verdict for the sum of $2,000 was awarded Keene P. Webb by a jury in the United States Court for the Eastern district of Virginia this afternoon with John D. Normoyle as foreman, in the suit brought against the American Railway Express Company to recover damages in the sum of $50,000 for alleged false arrest. The jury was out only about twenty minutes. Webb was formerly agent for the defendant corporation in Alexandria.

The plaintiff was represented by Judge J. K. M. Norton and Attorney H. Noel Garner.

Following the verdict a motion to set it aside was made by Attorney Wyndham R. Meredith of Richmond, who represented the defendant company. This was taken under consideration by the court.

A second suit against the American Railway Express Company for $50,000, filed by John W. Webb, brother of Keene P. Webb, slated to be heard today was postponed and a date for this trial will be determined upon later.

This afternoon the suit of Joseph Boozkovsky to recover damages in the sum of $15,000 from John A., and J. Clement Storm for injuries alleged to have been sustained by being struck by an automobile of defendants is being heard before a jury. The accident happened last October in Fairfax county. Important Ruling of State Revenue Collector

Richmond, Jan. 7.—Following is a statement from Commissioner of Internal Revenue, David H. Blair relating to the proceedure with respect to inquiries received by the Bureau of Internal Revenue regarding tax liabilities:

"Requests are being received daily for rulings and advice upon abstruct cases or prospective transactions involving questions of income tax and profits liability. These requests are so numerous and the insistence on prompt action so great that it seems advisable at this time definitely to outline the Bureau's policy which will govern the consideration of these requests.

"The Revenue Acts of 1918 and 1921 depart widely at many points from prior law or practice, and have given rise to new questions of such importance, complexity, and number that the resources of the Bureau are no more than adequate to advise taxpayers promptly of their present liabilities arising out of past transactions. It is impossible to answer every question which the ingenuity of the inquirer may devise without neglecting the fundamental duty of determining tax liability upon the basis of actual cases in which the taxpayer desires to know what are his immediate liabilities under the law.

"It will be the policy of the Bureau not to answer any inquiry except under the following circumstances:

"The transaction must be completed and not merely proposed or planned.

"The complete facts relating to the transaction, toegther with abstracts from contracts, or other documents, necessary to present the complete facts, must be given.

"The names of all the real parties interested (not "dummies used in the transaction) must be stated regardless of who presents the question, whether attorney, accountant, tax service, or other representative."

Very respectively,
J. C. NOEL, Collector.

OPIE DEMANDS FULL HEARING

Insists That Richmond Men Be Called to Testify to Accusations

Virginia Officer's Friends State He Will Be Vindicated By Senate Committee

Staunton Va., Jan. 7.—Col. H. L. Opie, on his return today from Washington, said that he and his counsel, Col. John A. Cutchins, of Richmond had insisted that the Senate committee investigating charges brought to light by Senator Watson that the Staunton officer had shot soldiers while in France call certain Richmond men to testify, who have written Mr. Watson that they know some thing about the alleged shoctings.

The attitude taken by Colonel Opie and his counsel was that the charges must be quashed once and for all, and that the Government owes it to the former officer of the American Expeditionary Forces to clear the matter up for all time.

It was then announced by Senator Brandegee, chairman, that the committee would call the Richmond men. They are said to have been members of Company B, First Battalion One Hundred and Sixteenth Infantry, who have denied that they "broke" on the morning of October 9, 1918, or that they were stragglers through Major Opie's line.

Movie Monday at Lyceum

The story of the "Blasphemer," the extraordinary picture play to be presented at the Lyceum next Monday night, brands itself on the memory.

As John Harden stands defying his God, the elements rage in a great storm, the thunder roars and the lightning flashes as if nature itself clamors in protest against the great sin. John Harden, the blasphemer, falls from the heights of his success to the abyss of failure like Lucifer from Heaven. In the defiance of his pride he had challenged God to strike him dead. The Divine Wisdom knows how to answer man's folly.

TO REBUILD ROAD SOON

Extends From Corporation Line to Potomac Yards Bridge, One-Third Mile

State Highway Commission Will Co-Operate With Bureau of Public Roads in Rebuilding

Through the efforts of the committee composed of John H. Trimyer, A. D. Brockett and George H. Evans, appointed by the chamber of commerce, it is expected that the road from the Alexandria city line to the bridge over the Potomac railroad yards, a distance of about a third of a mile, will be repaired in the near future.

This road is also known as the Mount Vernon Boulevard and is route No. 1 of the state highway system. A letter from George P. Coleman, high way commissioner, advises that he has taken up the matter with the Bureau of Public Roads at Washington, at the suggestion of the chamber of commrece committee, stating that ihis department would meet the fedhis department half way toward rebuilding this important link.

This roadway better known as the old Alexandria Washington pike is the shore route between Alexandria and Washington and is now more extensively used than the old route.

For some time past the chamber of commerce has been making efforts looking to its rebuilding, considerable complaint being received regarding its bad condition.

One half of the piece of wood has been given by Mr. Donahue to a prominent Mason in Norfolk, who has had it made into a gavel, and the other half will be given to a local Masonic order to be used for the same purpose.

According to the story told the local man by the residents of Barles Templiers the building from which the wood was secured was built in 1018, and in it was formed the Knights Templar order.

Richmond—Kaffir corn from Kansas will be introduced in Virginia as a food for quail and other game. A package of the corn was received Tuesday by M. D. Hart, secretary of the game department, and it will be planted at the state game farm to ascertain its productiveness in Virginia. Alva Clapp, state game warden of Kansas, who recently spent a few days here with Mr. Hart, said that the planting of Kaffir corn in that state had been the means of bringing the prairie chicken back and also furnished food for quail. Mr. Clapp advocated that sportsmen of Virginia plant the corn in convenient spots for the quail and it is probable Commissioner Bilisoly will make recommendations in his annual report that the seed be procured for planting on the game preserves throughout the state.

Charlottesville—James Carpenter, 13 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Carpenter, while hunting rabbits Monday, met with a peculiar accident. NEWBERRY WILL APPEAR MONDAY TO PLEAD CASE

Michigan Senator's Speech Expected to Finally Settle His Fate

MARGIN OF 4 VOTES

Democrats Charge Administration With Directing His Campaign For Seat.

Washington, Jan. 7.—The Senate today neared the end of possibly the bitterest fight waged in a generation over the title to a seat in that body.

Not even the famous Lorimer case furnished the feeling which has entered into the controversy involving the Senate membership of Truman H. Newberry, of Michigan.

Further polls and the counting of noses today indicated that three or four votes may determine the fate of Senator Newberry. That is, the most optimistic claims of the Newberry supporters relate to a majority of seven or eight votes. But there are about a dozen Senators still classed as "doubtful" and a switch of three or four against Newberry would unseat him.

Opponents of Senator Newberry allege the sum expended greatly exceeded this, but that the lower figure is admitted by the Newberry managers, who assert, however, that the expenditures were without the personal knowledge or consent of the candidate When he speaks it is understood that Senator Newberry will invite questions from any Senator, and that day's session of the Senate promises its thrills.

The subject under a unanimous consent agreement, will remain continuously before the Senate until dis posed of. A vote is expected some time next week.

During the debate today Senator Newberry's claim to his seat was denounced and defended. Crowds filled the galleries in expectation of a bitter fight and they could not be said to be disappointed, for at the outset Sentaor Caraway, Democrat, Arkansas, launched an attack on the Newberry supporters for the position he said they were preparing to take while Senator Spencer and Senator Williams, Democrat, Mississippi, soon joined in the debate.

When Senator Spencer announced he had been informed Senator Newberry would take the floor Monday it was said by leaders that it would be the first time in the two years since his election that the Michigan Senator has addressed the Senate. There was also a prospect of a speech tomorrow by Senator Townsend, Mr. Newberry's Republican colleague, who was said to be prepared to speak for three hours in defense of the junior Senator from his State.

Senator Williams had not long entered today's debate when the presiding officer was frequently forced to tap for order as the Mississippi Senator's shafts produced laughter and occasionally applause from the floor and the galleries.

It was Mr. Williams who elicited from Senator Spencer the statement that Senator Newberry would speak in his own defense Monday.

Senator Williams said he desired to hear the defense to be offered in the hope that Mr. Newberry could give reasons why he should retain his seat and "not disgrace not only his own good family but the good family of his wife."

"I have known his family a long time" continued Mr. Williams. "I am very fond of them. They have lived straight and useful lives. I knew his wife's family, and they were citizens of which this nation also could be proud. They made their money in the right way, and I hope he can explain away these charges, for I have nothing personally against him."

The fiery Senate debates of the past two days have brought renewed charges from Democratic sources that the Administration is squarely behind Senator Newberry.

TAXATION PROBLEMS

The problems incident to the taxation powers of the government are extremely complicated, and thus far unsolved by our federal state and local authorities. From time immemorial they have been almost the chief source of friction between the people and the sovereignty. The French Revolution, which marked an epoch in the affairs of men, grew out of centuries of taxation by the kings and feudal aristocracy. The fundamental aversion on the part of the English colonists to taxation without representation, led to the American Revolution. The anarchists and bolshevists of Russia have fed the fires of popular discontent for a century, at least, by segregating and emphasizing the glaring injustice of the multifarious tax systems fastened upon the helpless serf.

"The power to tax is the power to destroy," said Chief Justice Marshall, and this is an adequate explanation of the jealousy of the masses in its exercise. Dozens of text-books by learned professors have been written to lie unread on dusty shelves. The politician has invariably found the theme unsurpassed in arousing the interest of an apathetic constituency, and demagoguery still flourishes by an indiscriminate criticism of all taxation, whether fair or not. The doctors themselves do not agree. Probably no two of them think alike. Once in a while a powerful mind becomes aroused on the subject, and we have a Henry George who dreams of a universal panacea that shall remedy all the ills of government.

We are still at work on tax methods, and the present session of Congress has no more difficult task before it than a wise system of taxation that shall be equitable for all, the rich and the poor, the lesser and the greater.

Percy H. Johnston, president of the Chemical National Bank has written an article for the January Forum, on taxation, which he entitles, "The Confiscation of Wealth." He utters some profound truths in his argument, and his ability and reputation as the head of one of the country's leading financial institutions certainly entitles him to a respectful hearing. He closes by saying: "It is futile to discuss details when the fault is fundamental. Under universal and equal suffrage the temptation is to produce legislation agreeable to that class which can muster the largest numerical strength. The function of Congress is to inspire rather than to reflect the thought of its constituency. However, if Congress is resolved to become a mirror, it behooves those of us who have spent years in the study of economic problems to disseminate the results of our research that men may come to see things as they are, and that reflection may attain a truer perspective."

We respectfully recommend the entire article to the consideration of the gentlemen now in Congress assembled. Especially the closing paragraph which we have just quoted. The true function of a Congressman is to inspire rather than to be a mere reflection of public sentiment. He is on the spot, has his fingers on the pulse of Congress, and knows the situation as cannot know the mass of his constituents at a distance and occupied with their own affairs.

N. Y. Ministers Approve Clean Appeal of Play

Methodists Back the Rev. H. D. Miller, Who Has Actor Occupy Pulpit

New York, Jan. 5.—In urging his flock to go to theatres to see "clean wholesome plays," and in saying the so-called ban of the church on theatre going and dancing misrepresents the spirit of Methodism, the Rev. Harry Dwight Miller, pastor of the Hanson Place Methodist Church, Brooklyn seems to have aroused no resentment among the majority of ministers of his denomination in New York city. In fact, most of those whose views were sounded today approved his attitude.

It would appear that should members of the New York conference vote on the matter, the ban would be rescinded. This ,however, could be done only by the national body, which has approached the subject several times but never has taken definite action toward removing the prohibition.

Mr. Miller spoke his mind Sunday evening following an address on "Clean Plays" by Harry Davenport, leading actor in "Thank You." Mr. Miller favored co-operation with producers of such plays, and with those who would rid the dance of objectionable features.

The Rev. Dr. J. Lewis Hartsock, pastor of St. Andrew's Methodist Church, Manhattan, agreed with Mr. Miller, He pointed out the ban which is objected to is really not a rule of the church but a paragraph in the "chapter of advice" adopted in 1872.

The Rev. J. E. Price, pastor of the Washington Heights Methodist Church said he began as far back as 1892 an effort to have the ban rescinded.

The Rev. S. W. Grafflin, pastor of Park Avenue Methodist Church, said: "Brother Miller is correct up to a certain point, That is, what he says is perfectly true, but the trouble is some persons are certain to mistake advocacy of liberty for license.

The Rev. Frederick Brown Harris, pastor of Grace Methodist Church, deemed the paragraph forbidding plays and dancing as a "principle, not a club." He saw no reason for any controversy.

The only indication of dissent came from the Rev. A. M. Morgan, pastor who said in reference to Mr. Miller of the West Side Methodist Church, and Mr. Davenport, "I shouldn't care to take exactly the attitude of either man, so I think I shall not say anything."

Several Manhattan ministers noted that the so-called ban does not apply to opera or motion pictures, a fact which they regarded as inconsistent with the rest of the admonition.

In Brooklyn the Rev. Edward E. Wright, pastor of the Flatlands Methodist Church, declared himself in full agreement with Mr. Miller. He said: "I find the condition he complains of —that young people are being driven from the church by its attitude toward amusement."

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

Everyone came back to school Tuesday morning, after a week's holiday, with some good resolutions for the New Year. The only thing that looks dark to them is Mid-Year Examinations, which will be given in the near future.

Assembly was held on Tuesday morning in the Auditorium. After an opening prayer the Rev. E. V. Register addressed the student body. This address was greatly enjoyed. There was a recitation by Miss Virginia Wilkins. Closing remarks were made by Mr. Haydon.

On Tuesday afternoon the regular meeting of the Glee Club was held.

Plans for the organization of a literary society have been discussed for some time, and it has been decided that a meeting be held sometime next week, at which time the club will be organized. This club will be the first of its kind in the High School for the past three years.

The A. H.S. Basketball Team played the first scheduled game of the season with Hyattsville yesterday afternoon on the latters floor. The score was 21 to 8 in favor of A. H. S. The boys showed up fine, and team work was very good. Pettit and Dreifus starred for A. H. S. Three games have been scheduled for next week, to be played in Armory Hall. On Tuesday we meet Fredericksburg High, on Friday, a team from Orange, Va., and on Saturday, Manassas High school. These are sure to be great games. Come out and cheer for A. H. S.

WHAT SHALL I DO WITH THEM?

Give them away—throw them away—sell them to old shoe dealers? Not a bit of it, dear lady. Bring them here and watch us transform those old, dilapidated, shapeless, apparently useless shoes into the finest looking footwear you ever saw. Don't believe we can do it? It will cost you nothing if we don't prove it to you.

Life Savings Lost When Burglars Calls

After being employed at the municipal building of the District of Columbia in Washington for 20 years as a laborer, Jesse Rye, 60 years old, had saved $1,015. He kept it in a little frame cottage where he resided at 668 Elm Street, northwest. On the evening of November 8, Rye called at police headquarters and reported that a burglar had brokn into his home during his absence and had taken the $1,015, his life's savings, from an old trunk.

Rye said that the money was to have been presented to charity after his death. He further told the detectives that he had intended to deposit the money in a Washington bank on the following day. "I suppose that I will have to start all over again" Rye said, "but it takes a long time and means many sacrifices to save $1,000."

Had Rye's money been invested in Treasury Savings Certificates, all of which are registered in the names of the original purchasers, the burglar would not have profited by his visit to the old man's home. The Post Office Department also provides a means through Postal Savings, of safeguarding small savings, and frequent warnings are issued to persons who hide their savings in old trunks, sugar bowls, and under the carpet or mattress.

Benjamin Franklin said: "He that loses 5 shillings not only loses that sum, but all the advantage that might be made by turning it dealing, which by the time that a young man becomes old will amount to a considerable sum of money.' Safeguard your savings by depositing in Postal Savings or by investing in Treasury savings securities.

To The Pastors of the Churches of Christ in America

The Commission on International Justice and Goodwill believes that it should do more than seek a "Warless World" by the appeal of words. It has therefore set up a Committee on Mercy and Relief; for the churches can best create good will and brotherhood by revealing these qualities in service.

The first task that comes to us, from Mr. Hoover, head of the American Relief Administraion, who is also a Vice President of the Federal Council. He tells us that the churches did not fail, when the call came, to help the children of Central Europe. Through the years the churches have generously met the repeated calls—for Belgians; for Armenians; for devastated France; for famine sufferers in China. Other calls will come to you this year. This appeal is for Russia.

God has never laid upon us quite such a task before. This Commission believes that this is the way to help solve the confusing and baffling world problem of Russia—by love and service.

Here is an opportunity to translate the moral and spiritual ideals of the Washington Conference into practice Let us render actual service to our fellow men in direst need.

The relief made available by these funds will be distributed under the supervision of a representative of the Federal Council on Mr. Hoover's staff in Russia, through the well established agencies of the American Relief Administration and the American Friends Service Committee, which are in the closest cooperation.

If you cannot fully rspond to this appeal at Christmas, please note that our service in Russia will have to be, in any case a task of many months.

In presenting to the Christian heart of America this urgent and pitiful appeal for Russia, we should not fail to lay upon the conscience of the churches the necessity of also responding to the calls by the various Boards and to the other distinctive calls for generosity, such as those made for the Near East. The appeals of mankind are indeed many. None should be neglected.

President Harding writes: "I have given my fullest approval of the action on the part of the American Relief Administration in initiating an effort to mitigate the famine in Russia, particularly to save the lives of the children. I know that the entrance of America into the problem of Russia through the full heart of charity is one that will appeal to the whole American people."

Will not your Church and Sunday School and all the Christian homes in your Community have generous fellowshiyp in service to the Christ, who said to those on his right hand, "Inasmuch as ye did unto one of these my brethren, even these least, ye did it unto me?"

JOHN H. FINLEY, Chairman,
Commission on International Justice and Good will.

To Be Sworn in February 1st

Following conferences which have extended through the past two days, Governor-elect E. Lee Trinkle said late last night that he had not had a minute to give to the subject of appointments. "I am here getting a line on the affairs of State government and am gathering detailed information on the subjects in hand," he said. Mr. Trinkle will not be sworn in as chief executive of the State until noon of February 1, and has several weeks yet in which to select the heads of several departments including his private secretary.

FOR GREATER ALEXANDRIA

Capt. George H. Evans Tells Gazette Reporter What He Thinks

Business Manager of Chamber of Commerce Explains Fox's Ferry Project

When approached by the Gazette reporter with the question, "What do you think the Gazette's outline of some of the things needed for a bigger and better Alexandria?," Captain George H. Evans, Business Manager of the Chamber of Commerce, smiled and said:

"The program as outlined by the Alexandria Gazette for the advancement and welfare of Alexandria meets with the hearty endorsement of the Chamber of Commerce.

"All of these projects are so important and far reaching that they ought to be dealt with separately, I will therefore, confine myself to the advantages accuring from the installation of a ferry service between this city and the Maryland shore. While this matter has been thought to be a good thing for some years past, it has only been within the past year that the project has assumed a more definite shape.

"Two things are necessary, the building of a substantial road from a point opposite this city to the top of Oxon Hill, a distance of one and one eighth miles, and the operation of a ferry; one will do no good however, without the other.

"The plan is to have the Prince Georges County authorities build the road at a cost of about ten thousand dollars, and the interests in Alexandria to guarantee the ferry. The Prince Georges people are much interested in the matter and the Chamber of Commerce is convinced that a plan will be worked out that will result in the road being built.

"The mutual benefits to be derived from such a connection are incalculable. Such a route would mean to the citizens of Prince Georges that they would have the advantage of two markets for their produce instead of one, that they could reach Virginia from this point with only their Maryland license tag, and that they could travel to the Valley of Virginia a distance of 71 miles, as against 113 miles via Frederick; as a matter of fact, it would be almost as near to go to Winchester from Baltimore by this route as it would to go by the way of Frederick, and then again tourists and others would have a direct route to Richmond and the south. The American Automobile Association has agreed to show this route on its map which means that thousands of tourists would travel this way, opening the wonderful possibilities of Southern Maryland.

Such a ferry would give the business interests of Alexandria an opportunity to solicit business and enable them to make deliveries at a saving of 16 to 20 miles of hauling; it would put us within two miles of reaching any section of Maryland over a good road; it would build one more door in Alexandria making it truly the "Gateway to the South," and the transient travel would soon make it necessary to erect a modern hotel to take care of this travel. However, there is no magic wand to be waved to accomplish this, it means work and sacrifice of time. But is it not worth every effort we can make?"

To be thrifty is to be cautious. One will also begin to save clothes, boots, and socks and shirts, and everybody should be taught to save. It is a good people call a thrifty person mean, they do not understand. I would rather be called thrifty than to be summoned for debt."

WOMAN TOO WEAK TO WALK
Now Works Nine Hours a Day.—Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Restored Her Strength

Union Village, Vt.—"I was weak and nervous and all run-down. I could not walk across the floor without resting and I had been that way for weeks. I saw your advertisement in the paper and after taking one bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I felt the good it was doing me and I took seven more in all. Before I finished I was able to work nine hours a day in a steam laundry. I cannot say too much in favor of your medicine. I trust all sick and suffering women will take it. It has been two years since I took it and I am strong and well." —Mrs. L. A. GUIMANN, Union Village, Vermont.

This is only one of such letters we are continually publishing showing what Lydia E. Pinkham has done for women, and whether you work or not Mrs. Guimann's letter should interest you.

Many women get into a weak, nervous run down condition because of ailments they often have. Such women should take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at the first sign of trouble. Good health is necessary and this splendid medicine will help you to keep it.
